Alamy has announced a deal to represent a raft of big-name picture agencies. The company now represents Stockbyte and Medio Images from Getty, and Image100, Imageshop, and Insideout Pix from Corbis. The company has also struck deals to represent Bananastock, Brand X, Jupiterimages, and Image Source.

The company says: "Collectively they provide all general stock categories, focusing on contemporary lifestyle, business and conceptual subjects, as well as food and travel."

The collections are available now from the Alamy Web site.
