

Alamy Reaches Three Million Images

18th July 2005 - With content from over 4,750 photographers and 300 agencies worldwide, this marks a trebling in the collection over the last 12 months. Alamy is focused on creating the largest and fastest search engine for stock photography and adds more than 200,000 new images to its web site every month. This rapid growth has been well received by customers benefiting from the broad diversity of content available.
